NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS—One of the tables found in the judicial statistics compiled by Clarence J. Brown, Secretary of State, shows that more than one-third of all offenses committed under the influence of liquor are breaches of the public peace. The next largest class, which includes more than one-fourth of all such offenses are those against public policy. Next in order are crimes against persons and crimes against property. Very few offenses are indicated as being against "public chastity and morality," against "public health." In the last named class, only two violations were reported in the entire state.

Recent celebration of "Army Day" in the Capital City drew special attention to the government—military reservation, Fort Hayes, where military maneuvers were conducted. The grounds contain 68 acres of land, with plenty of shade, buildings costing hundreds of thousands of dollars and landscaping throughout the grounds aiding in materially beautifying the place. Autoists and tourists, especially Ohioans, should visit Fort Hayes when passing through the Capital City; they will be well repaid for the trouble.

The closed season for bass in the inland waters of Ohio is near at hand and lovers of the piscatorial sport should familiarize themselves with the first and game laws of the division of conservation. The open season for bass ends June 30th and remains closed until midnight July 15th. Only twelve bass may be taken in any one day and none must be less than eleven inches in length.

The Ohio State Board of Parole has been working over time the past few weeks with the result that many inmates in penal institutions have been recommended for parole. In the past few days 50 paroled from the Ohio Penitentiary and the week before 31, while 12 were conditionally released to other authorities. The population now is 4,300 and still dwindling, hundreds having been entitled to parole hearing when the new board was installed.

The annual meeting of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society will occur Tuesday, April 26. A program has been arranged with many attractive features which will be of great interest to all those interested in museums and historical work in general. A large delegation of membership of the society and representatives of county and historical societies as well as teachers of history are expected to be present and participate in the meeting.

Large sales of automobile license tags by the Motor Vehicle Division of the Secretary of State. The quarterly reduction in the price of tags resulted in many machines being kept in garages until the above date, especially passenger cars. In Cuyahoga county, the largest distributing subdivision of the state, it was estimated that 80 per cent of passenger cars secured plate for the twelve months, while 76 per cent of commercial cars and trucks secured plates for a like period. Complete figures will probably be available the latter part of this month.

HOBBY FAIR ENTRY LISTS WILL CLOSE FRIDAY NIGHT

Entry lists for the boys' hobby fair, sponsored by Xenia Rotarians, will close this Friday night.

Twenty-two departmental prize winners will be taken to Cincinnati by the Rotary club next fall to attend the boys' hobby fair there. The show will be divided into 11 departments, and each department will contain several classes. In turn, each classification is to be divided into two sections, one for boys under 14 and one for boys between that age and 18 years.

Bert Long Takes Own Life Sunday Morning

Ill health and business conditions are reported to have prompted Bert Long, 57, prominent Jamestown business man to commit suicide by shooting himself in the head in his bedroom at his home Sunday morning.

Long used a .22 calibre revolver which he obtained a short time before from the cash drawer of the filling station he operated three blocks from his home. The shot was fired through the right temple as he stood in front of a mirror.

Mrs. Long and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fry of Sharon, Pa., were in the house at the time, and called Coroner Dr. R. L. Haines of that place. Long was said to have had a sleepless night.

The family had planned to go to Columbus that afternoon owing to the death of Frank Long, a cousin. Long was well known in this section. He had operated an automobile and farm implement store in Jamestown and was partner in a hardware store in Xenia at one time. Mrs. Fry, the daughter, formerly taught in the Cedarville public schools previous to her marriage.

CLIFTON CHURCH TO HAVE UNUSUAL SERVICE SABBATH

The United Presbyterian congregation will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the disbanding of the old Massies Creek Church, first located at what is best known as Stevenson cemetery and later located on the A. G. Collins farm for many years. The congregation was organized in 1802 and disbanded in 1882. At that time the membership divided and went to congregations in Xenia, Cedarville, Clifton and Jamestown.

Those in charge of the program Sabbath morning in the Clifton church at the regular hour of service, will have a number of representatives of families of the Massies Creek church on program. History of the congregation will be reviewed and incidents in connection with the congregation will be brought out.

Mr. William Ferguson brought to this office for inspection old minute books of session records. The minutes are complete except from 1802 to 1820 and from 1844 until 1880. We find many names of older families mentioned that will be of interest: David Turnbull, James Bull, James Morrow, James Mitchell, Margaret Moreland, Margaret McLaughlin, W. W. Turnbull, Alex. Turnbull, John Buick, Andrew Galloway, Robert Moody, Robert Kendall, Andrew Jackson, Judge Kyle, Robert Scott Bull, William Bradford, and a score or more of others.

The duties of session members of that day evidently were somewhat different than today. Ofttimes the session was a trial court for offenders as state courts were not known at that time in this section.

We notice from the records that David Turnbull was allowed $7.67 1-2 for 3 1-2 gallons of wine. D. M. Leughe was allowed $1.25 for bread.

Another unusual item was where Robert Kendall had been cited to appear before session on a charge of intoxication.

Sally Brown, Jane McMillan and Adam Shigley were cited for singing human (hymns) compositions in the worship of God at Mr. Poage's house.

And the following quotation from the minutes: "It was contrary to the word of God and the subordinate standards of this church for her members to hear erroneous teachers and whereas the members have been publicly warned against the practice, the following were cited for attending a meeting at the Poage house, D. Brown, J. Kyle, R. Kyle, S. Kyle, A. Shigley, James McMillan, S. Brewer.

The record of January 10, 1827 has a present day thing of a police court report. "Rabecce McCully (widow) has of late been guilty of dishonesty, falsehood, intoxication."

From the minutes there were many interesting happenings before the session having to do with slavery. Members from the South were given much consideration and subject to tests before being given full standing.

Farm Loans Now Being Arranged By Board

Applications from farmers in every township in the county, requesting Government loans for crop production purposes were received by the County Loan Committee which met at the Court House in Xenia Monday evening.

Mr. Titlow, chairman of the committee stated that the number of applications for loans far exceeded their expectations and that some of our largest farmers are taking advantage of the service to carry on their farming operations. He urged farmers desiring loans to present their applications to the committee before April 30 which is the final date for approving requests. The committee is composed of C. R. Titlow, Osborn, W. J. Taylor, Cedarville; and John H. Irwin, Jamestown, will meet each Friday and Monday evenings at 6:30 to receive and pass on applications. The appointment of this committee, which was selected by a group of farm leaders, was confirmed by the United States Secretary of Agriculture in a letter received by County Agent Drake last Saturday.

The money which is being distributed to farmers for crop production purposes is made available by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which provides a fund of $50,000,000. To be used for the relief of agriculture loans not exceeding $400 per farmer with interest at 5 1-2 per cent per annum will be made. Security consists of a lien on growing crops and loans are due November 30, 1932.

Information on securing loans may be obtained from County Agent Drake or any member of the county committee. Applicants calling at the Farm Bureau Office, Friday, Saturday and Monday will be given assistance in making applications.

Mr. Harry Wright and family moved this week into their new home on Cedar Street.

COUNTY OFFICIALS BEING PUT ON SPOT

Some officials on the county pay roll are being put on the "spot", as a result of the congressional contest. It seems the methods of the old George B. Cox gang in Cincinnati are being enforced. County officials are being called to the office of a certain Common Pleas Judge who has grown big since he has had a few years on the bench at a handsome salary and in addition to his usual salary has received $20 a day and all expenses while presiding in Cuyahoga county courts. For this reason the panic has not disturbed the judge much.

Officials are brought before the judge to state their position relative to the Congressional race in behalf of Marshall. If we are able to analyze the situation from results the judge should summon several hundred Greene county voters before him in his private office behind locked door and tell them what they must do or be kicked out of a job. Red blood still flows through the necks of a few men that have some backbone and have given the judge and his Congressional candidate the merry ha! ha! One official who was on the Republican ticket as a delegate to the state convention is a veteran who saw service has resigned, rather than be a tool in the hands of politicians who only wanted him for trading purposes. He deserves much credit for displaying his independence.

The cellar window and porch climbing method may take the gangster to the family jewel box but it is going to be a rough route for any Congressional candidate, or judge, to club people into line for the gang candidate.

SALARIES, REDUCTIONS, FARM BOARD

While scanning an exchange from a neighboring county we notice where a speaker at a County Taxpayer's League took what to us was an unusual position, in view of the fact that all farm interests were demanding reductions in government. This farmer held it was inconsistent, and without precedent, that the farm interests should demand certain salary cuts with school teachers and county officials and not oppose the huge salaries paid members of the Federal Farm Board. The speaker even questioned the creation of such a board and was inclined to believe the board had done much more damage than good to the farmer. We have noticed for some time that paid representatives of farm organizations have been strong for most any kind of a farm board or movement that carried salaried positions. It is almost certain that if a canvass was made seven out of ten farmers are opposed to the farm board and all that it has done. Scores of our most successful farmers locally can be named as open opponents of the present plan, and especially the salaries paid. The Cincinnati Times-Star a few days ago stated that government costs could not be reduced when Congress appropriates $13,000,000 for salaries for 6,000 county agents in 4000 counties in this country. We do not single out the county agent that he is a useless employee on the public payroll, but that all interests must stand reductions, but reductions must come from the top down, otherwise only a few county officials or school teachers would be reduced and the higher salaried class remain where it is.

WHERE WAS MARSHALL DURING THE WAR?

One thing you have not heard yet—but there is time enough before the campaign closes, is an attack on the War record of Edward E. Greiner, candidate for congress in the Seventh District. When his country called for his service Mr. Greiner did not wait for the draft but enlisted from information we have at hand. He left prospects of business, profits, family and relatives to share his burden along with millions of others. He saw and had part in service that resulted in victory. But all this is not the only requirement for recognition as a candidate for the honor he seeks. He returned, took up business affairs, and has been successful as a manufacturer, banker and land owner. He knows business and practices honorable business methods and stands high in the estimation of his fellow citizens in Springfield. He has always had a part in civic movements in his city and never forgot his "buddies" wherever he met them. He now has their loyal support.

But where was Marshall during the days millions of our youth were in the trenches facing hell-fire and poison gas? Did he offer to enlist? No! Thirty dollars a month and rations out of a can around a cold wet camp was not his fortune. Instead he paraded about on the blood-money profit from the sale of Geller-Jones stocks to innocent men and women that knew not their value. Some of his clients lost their all. Others lost their health and minds and became wards of the state. What a contrast between the two records. Who is there that can defend Marshall's position? Let's hear from him who cares to put his name in print!

Salaries of all non-elective employees of Clark County will be cut 10 per cent on order of the county commissioners, following a request of the Clark County Taxpayers' Association. Appropriations for various purposes were also cut 10 per cent. The county is faced with a $50,000 deficit in tax revenues. Salaries of elective officials are fixed by law and cannot be reduced unless by voluntary action on the part of officials. Gov. White is to name a commission to make a survey and report relative reducing all state and county salaries. It is reported the Governor will call the legislature in session late this summer to pass the necessary legislation. Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, stated recently he was opposed to reducing salaries of appointive officials until the higher paid or elective officials were reduced first. After so long a time official Washington has woken up and there is now a movement to reduce the salaries of all government officials. It has always been our idea that Federal salaries should be reduced first, particularly when the government is now many millions behind. The Federal government, like all states, can abolish many commissions and bureaus and lessen the tax burden. When these are reduced then come on down the line.

A Rotary Club speaker in Cincinnati made a notable speech that has a new tinge to it, and is much different than what is usually heard around the dinner club tables. He said:

"We must stand with faith and hope till the day dawns and morning comes again, as always it has come and always will." So said Dr. W. P. Dearling, president Oakland City, Ind., College, before the Rotary Club.

"I am a rebel—in rebellion against the machine age, not against machines, but against the spirit of the machine age. I am tired of the roar of wheels, wheels, wheels! I want to hear the human heartbeat, the cry of a baby, tired of looking up to our towers, towering characters, men like Washington, that we need so much in this time. I am tired of this incessant talk of speed—80, 90 miles an hour—tired of the unending chatter about racketeers, and would like to see more speed in moving toward the high calling of human service."

"If the present partial quiet of the wheels of industry is the price we must pay to hear again the human heart throb, perhaps the price will not be too big." The faith of Job is needed today, the faith to say: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust him."

Several days ago a speaker under the auspices of the Farm Bureau came near raising a disturbance in a Xenia meeting, when he attacked the banks, management, etc. The speech is said to have met objection from one in the audience, who challenged some of his statements. It was only a few days ago that another Farm Bureau speaker in a radio address became vehement in his criticism of banks. The speakers made statements in each of these instances that if made by a foreigner, would have led to deportation. Both waxed of Socialism and Communism, pure and simple. Their idea of banking would put farming in the same class with a dictator just as we find in Russia and Italy. When we look over bank directorates in almost every county seat and village institution we find some of our most progressive and successful farmers. When these speakers attack banks in most cases it reflects back to rural citizens. Neither make distinction between the rural bank, city bank, or the international banker. As to the latter class we cannot endorse owing to billions of American money being loans abroad, never to be returned. In this administration in Washington is partially responsible and must carry its share of criticism. We must have banks which are as important as railroads. Banks are operated under certain laws, if the law is wrong it should be changed. If bank management has violated the law, there is a remedy. Bankers are human and of course subject to judgment that may be right the day decision is made but proven to be wrong a year or so later. The banker may loan you money on good faith that you will pay it back on the designated date. If one hundred or one thousand persons that get loans from an institution do not pay their notes when due, the bank may fall with "frozen loans". The responsibility in such cases then lies with patrons that make good their promise to the bank. We doubt if there are very many farm bureau speakers that are qualified to speak with much authority on banking.

Greene county's share of relief taxes will amount to $31,744. The legislature recently passed a law placing a one percent additional tax on all public utilities in the state, effective for the next five years. The county can issue bonds and these bonds be paid from this tax. The first bonds issued will be from Hamilton county and a test suit will follow. It is now hinted that the utility interests will take the case eventually to the United States Supreme Court. In such an event the tax cannot be collected in the meantime and no bank or brokerage house would purchase the bonds. How relief for poor and unemployed will be cared for during the contest over the law, has not been explained.

The way values have dropped on the stock market and the activity of the "bear" movement now brings out the fact that Congress may cause an investigation. Just at present "selling short" is a great crime in the legalized gambling mart. When the "bull" market was in evidence and $5 stocks selling for $150, there was no protest from any quarter. Something is wrong somewhere all will admit for dividend paying securities are down to almost nothing in value and there is no reason for this low value. On the other hand pork, beef, corn and wheat are supposed to have a basic price value, yet all four are far below what they should be. The simplest remedy would be to close these stock exchanges, as well as others, and let the law of "supply and demand" have a chance.

Wheat has been an important topic this week due to the increase in price in the Chicago market. How long will the price stay up? Will it go higher? Is it only a bubble? Such questions are interesting just now. From the rural standpoint wheat at 76c in the local market would work wonders. At $1 prosperity would be met at the old corner we have heard so much about. While wheat is on the upward the death of Joseph Leiter, 63, Chicago, Monday, brings out some interesting wheat history. It was back in 1897 when Leiter was 29 years of age and a fortune of thirty million dollars in hand that he conceived the idea of buying all the wheat in the country and selling it at his own price. He had the money but like other plans carefully worked out, he had overlooked something—possible failure. He started to buy wheat at 73c and by the next spring had 18 million bushels of cash wheat with 22 million bushels of futures. He had forced the price to $1.55, a world's record. At this juncture, Phillip Armour, millionaire packer, had sold Leiter nine million bushels, but could not get the actual wheat. Armour offered to buy out the Leiter holdings which would have given him a net profit of four million dollars. Leiter refused to sell. Armour spent a million hiring thugs to break the ice in the upper lakes to reach Duluth. There he purchased 18 million bushels and dumped it on the Chicago market and Leiter lost all his paper profits and ten million more. Leiter had planned well believing the Duluth wheat could not be delivered owing to frozen lakes but Armour set a new precedent. Thus ended a combat of giant millionaires. Leiter overlooked safe rule of business in refusing to sell when he had the opportunity of a reasonable profit.

In some respects the nation as well as the state of New Jersey have not instilled confidence in the public as a result of recent developments in the Lindbergh kidnapping case. It is a critical situation when a father must on his own responsibility deal with the gangsters to get his own son. It is worse when he is betrayed after the ransom money is paid. We as a nation can boast of much but we must admit a weakness in our handling of the crime situation. As far as one is able to judge Lindbergh is out $50,000 and knows nothing more than the day the child disappeared. The nation has enough ships to sweep the sea and army large enough to clean out every den of vice, bootlegger, gang headquarters, but apparently leaderless when it comes to combating such forces. Millions are appropriated to enforce prohibition but enforcement agents are the product of some political machine and under orders that do not bring the results desired. Votes with the politician come first. The dry element gets promises and the bootlegger gets protection. Little wonder then that forty days and forty nights has found a crib of an eighteen month old youngster empty.

Miss Eleanor Johnson, formerly of this place, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Russell, West Carrollton, figured in a motor car accident near Alpha Friday, when their car was ditched. Mrs. Russell had an injured hip while the others received only minor cuts.

THE CALL OF ABRAHAM

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-9.
GOLDEN TEXT—And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Abram Leaving Home.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God Calls Abram to a Great Adventure.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making Life an Adventure.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Conquering Power of Faith.

I. His Separation (v. 1).
The new era inaugurated with Noah as head ended in a colossal failure in the attempt of man on the plains of Shinar to set himself free from God's government. In view of this failure, God turned aside from the race as such and called Abram and placed him at the head of a new nation which he would train for himself. This call involved

1. A great sacrifice. It meant the severance of those ties:
a. His country in the widest range of his affections.
b. His place of birth and kindred which comes still closer to his heart.
c. His father's house as the innermost circle of all tender emotions. All these must be cast off before the Lord could get him into the place of blessing. This is a call that is much needed today. The Lord is continually saying, "Come ye out from among them" (II Cor. 6:16-18).

2. The performance of heroic tasks. For Abram to go into a strange land and take possession of it, for God called for heroism. The life of separation from the world costs much, but it is the only way to have God's favor.

11. God's Promise to Abram (v. 23).
The demand for separation was followed by a seven-fold promise—a gracious engagement on God's part to communicate unmerited favors and confer blessings upon him.

1. "I will make of thee a great nation" (v. 2). This was fulfilled in a natural way in the Jewish nation and in Ishmael (Gen. 17:20); also in a spiritual seed embracing both Jews and Gentiles (Gal. 3:7, 8).

2. "I will bless thee" (v. 2). This was fulfilled.

a. Temporarily (Gen. 13:14-17; 24:35). Abram was enriched with lands, cattle, silver and gold.

b. Spiritually (Gen. 15:6; John 8:56). He was freely justified on the grounds of his faith. The righteousness of Christ was imputed unto him, also he had the exalted privilege of talking face to face with the Lord.

3. "And make thy name great" (v. 2). Going out from his father's house, he himself was to have a great name. He was to be the head of a new house which would be venerated far and wide. He is known as the "friend of God" (James 2:23).

4. "Thou shalt be a blessing" (v. 2). We now pass from the lower to the higher phase of the promise. It was a great thing to be blessed and blessed by God, but to be the medium of blessing to others was greater still.

5. "I will bless them that bless thee" (v. 3). Abram and the nation which came forth from his loins became the very touchstone of God. Since he is God's friend, he regards him as toward himself. This has been strikingly exemplified in all ages since. The nations that have used the Jews well have been blessed.

6. "And curse him that curseth thee" (v. 3). The nations which have turned against Abram and the nation of which he was head have never prospered. While God at times used the surrounding nations as scourges for his people, he in turn punished them for it.

7. "And in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed" (v. 3). This has been fulfilled in a. The Jewish nation being made the repository of the oracles of God. Through them the Bible has been given to the world.

b. The bringing of the Redeemer into the world. Thus they became the channel through which God's richest Gift came into the world.

It will be further fulfilled in c. A future time when Jews shall be God's missionaries in carrying the good tidings to the ends of the earth.

III. Abram's Obedience to God (vv. 4-8).
Abram at once departed out of his own land. He proved his faith by his obedience. He went out not knowing whither he went. He was a typical believer. He renounced indulgence and idolatry. He separated himself for a testimony by his altars of witness. He entered into Canaan and accepted a pilgrim life.

"TARZAN THE APE MAN", VIVID ADVENTURE FILM
SHOWS IN SPRINGFIELD

The strange story of a white man who was brought up in a jungle and lived in the tree-tops like the apes is told in "Tarzan", The Ape Man, which will be seen at the Regent in Springfield for four days starting Saturday, April 16. This is a screen version of the famous adventure novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs and the fact that it was directed by W. S. Van Dyke of "Trader Horn" reputation guarantees it to contain the full flavor of the African jungle in which dangerous and always exciting locality the plot is unfolded.

Fights with lions, apes, blood-thirsty pygmies and other wild animals play a prominent part in this story of jungle adventures. Principal interest however is centered on the fascinating romance of Tarzan with an English girl, Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer, plays the title role with Maureen O'Sullivan.
